

Appendix 3: The four attributes of an inclusive economy and the concepts from which they were built

There is equitable distribution of the benefits of the economy	There is equitable access to resources needed to participate in the economy	The economy operates within planetary boundaries	The economy is repurposed
Equitable access to employment Equitable access to entrepreneurial opportunities Reduced poverty, disadvantage and inequalities Equitable distribution of the benefits from the economy Inequality reduced in tandem with growth (not as a result of) Equitable opportunity to shape the economy The economy provides an adequate welfare and safety net Equitable access to public goods and services, infrastructure, and other resources There is an expansion of freedoms	Equitable opportunities to access the economy Equitable access to skills and training, decent housing, education and food security Improving and enhancing capabilities (Sen approach)	The economy is environmentally sustainable	Economy delivers wellbeing (non-economic as well as economic) There is a perspective shift in the purpose of the economy The economy delivers social cohesion, solidarity, belonging, trust The economy delivers high employment There is equitable participation in the design of the economy The economy delivers financial sustainability The institutions reduce legal and social barriers to an inclusive economy

Equitable participation in the economy and its processes			The economy improves the quality of life of its citizens
--	--	--	--